

Ben,

This Nexaris was one hell of a challenging project from having to cut a huge opening in the floor, frame work, and pour back the concrete for the floor rail system to the ceiling height, and the sliding doors.

I have to say its one of the more complex projects we have taken on and one that as always I can count on Fry construction to make it all happen!!!!

Definitely one for the record books and a good reason why I promote Fry Construction!!!

Thanks to the team that make this all possible under these circumstances.

Ya'all are the best man.

With best regards,

Robert Hamm
